Commented that there were several deceased leaders on the list. What does that mean?

When asked about ways leaders (specifically city council) can increase community confidence:

- Transparency in their meetings
- Publish the agenda
- Maybe a live recording of their meeting
- What work is being done outside the meeting?
- The group felt there was a definite lack of communication
- Is there a strategic plan for Galva?
- They learned that day that a planning commission was recently started.

Other general comments:

- Felt there was some optimism about the economy because they're close to McPherson and reap benefits from that proximity.
- Mennonite strong so a good focus on my business.

For future surveys, the group expressed a willingness to help with a door-to-door canvas.

Another suggestion was to have community ambassadors that represent the priority areas attend the Master Plan meeting
